

THE STORY BEHIND THE NAME THEBLUEPRINTWORKS

The name TheBlueprintWorks© is dedicated to the Duprey – Williams and their extended families. This NYC and SC based family unit affectionately addresses each generation by number, so we are G1 - G4, with G1 being the elders.

Many family reunions ago, the eldest generation shared history of how they “made it”; from their first jobs to their first homes and all the things that come with being young and finding your way.

In the middle of so many hysterical and heartwarming stories (I remember one about spaghetti dinners and one about riding bicycle handlebars), a younger family member asked a powerful question to the effect of, “How can we survive racism, commit to God, keep other commitments, build homes, build family, build capital, care for one another and our community and thrive in the way that generations before us have?”

I think that question was designed to reveal the answer to, "How do we build a family strong enough to carry the weight of solitary members as one of our own; stable enough that two entire families figure out how to knit themselves together across generations; fun enough that we look forward to just being together despite...whatever imperfections..?"

Silence for about 2 seconds..then

A wise and way too hilarious G2 husband (who missed his calling as a personal shopper – I will call him Nupe), responded,

“You just gotta follow the blueprint.”

That was several summers ago, and that moment resonates as clear as day!

It's worth examining ourselves and our family systems to discover the materials we come from: gold, silver, precious stones, wood, hay, or straw (Or any combination). Once we do that, we can build, repair and transform!

Perhaps you didn't have a blueprint and stumbled around figuring it out. Perhaps you didn't know you needed one. That's OK!

The BlueprintWorks uses scientific principles and Biblical foundation to help build, restore, and transform individuals – according to the original blueprint.

Show up for yourself - "You Just Gotta Follow The Blueprint."
